

What is a canon?

At the Marimurtra Botanical Garden we apply this canon when photographs are taken for personal and private use with a purpose other than visiting the Garden.

The most common cases are reports of weddings, communions, baptisms, social media sessions, etc. Or any other group that meets the requirements described above.

- The authorization to fly a drone in the Marimurtra Botanical Garden does not give, in any case, permission to fly over other neighboring private properties, much less to take still or video images.

Use of drones

The state law of the AESA establishes very clearly the limitations of the use of drones in public spaces. That is why whenever you want to fly a drone in the grounds of the Marimurtra Botanical Garden it is necessary:

- Having notified in advance of the presence of one of these devices.
- Provide the official drone pilot card, issued by the AESA.
- Provide certification of being in possession of the relevant civil liability insurance.

The legislation does not allow recording in public spaces where there are 2 or more people. That is why it is totally forbidden to record with drones during the opening hours to the public of the Marimurtra Botanical Garden and in areas open to the public.

To record with a drone inside Marimurtra it is necessary to have the express permission of the Garden's management. In case of not having this authorization, the Carl Faust Foundation reserves the right to take legal action against whoever makes such illegitimate use of its facilities.

The Carl Faust Foundation

The Carl Faust Foundation is a non-profit entity created in 1951 by Carl Faust with the following objectives: "... the protection and promotion of Mediterranean biology studies, especially in botany, [...] seeking cooperation and international relations for the benefit, all of this, of scientific research and dissemination...".

The Marimurtra Botanical Garden, declared a Cultural Asset of National Interest by the Generalitat de Catalunya, is privately owned and is kept in perfect condition thanks to the entrance fees paid by its visitors and other uses of the space such as shootings, photographic fees, or events.
